LOCAL PLATE GLASS PLANT WILL NOT BE DISMANTLED

Statement Made of Investigations Just Concluded

WILL OPERATE A PART

Pot House and Carrara Finishing Departments to be Continued

In view of numerous and unfounded rumors that the Pittsburg Plate Glass factory in Charleroi was to be abondoned permanently, the following letters from the Charleroi Business Men's Association will effectually dispel the fear in this direction. Only a part of the factory is to be shut down, and this is done in order to reduce stocks, and the management is hopeful that the suspension will be of short duration.

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail:

Sir:—Owing to the wild rumors emanating from many sources that the Charleroi Plate Glass Works is likely to be dismantled, the Board of Directors of the Business Men's Association felt called upon to secure from reliable official sources the exact status of affairs. By an interview with head officials of the company at Pittsburg who are in position to know, the Board of Directors of the Business Men's Association secured their permission to issue the following statement:

"The product of the Charleroi plant has been very satisfactory to the company, and had it not been found necessary to curtail production by closing down a part of their plants, owing to unsatisfactory trade conditions the Charleroi plant would not be closed on July 1st. While there is no exact way to judge trade conditions, yet they hope the shut down will not last over a couple of months. During this period, it is the present intention to keep in operation, the pot house and Carrara finishing department."

Yours Respectfully,
BOARD OF DIRECTORS

WORK TO START SOON

Brownsville Hospital Association Aided by State

SITE ALREADY PURCHASED

Rev. E. M. Bowman, president of the Brownsville Hospital Association has just received notice from Harrisburg of the appropriation of $10,000 for the Brownsville Hospital. The Brownsville Hospital association started in to get an appropriation of $40,000. The House appropriation committee disappointed the promoters by cutting it to $12,000, but the Senate raised it and appropriated $30,000. Governor Tener cut the appropriation to $10,000.

Property has already been purchased for the institution. It has the backing of some of the most substantial men of the Three Towns neighborhood, as well as some of the large coal companies and the Pennsylvania railroad. With the new order of things the Brownsville hospital will be the only institution between Monongahela and Uniontown. Eventually it is hoped that a Charleroi hospital, or one for the convenience of the towns scattered in this vicinity, and centrally located, will be established, and successfully conducted.

Lewis Carson Will Lose Through Early Morning Conflagration

Fire gutted the store room of Philip Nicholas in the Lewis Carson building at 321 Fallowfield avenue this morning at about 4 o'clock, and a loss of $600 to $800 was entailed. Insurance was carried on the building by Mr. Carson and on the stock by Nicholas.

The origin of the fire is unknown It was discovered a few minutes before 4 o'clock and the alarm turned in When the fire was discovered it looked as if the building could not be saved.

Firemen turned out promptly after the turning in of the alarm, and within a brief time had a stream of water playing on the fire in the store room. It didn't take long to get it under control and entirely extinguished.

The damage to the building will probably be $300 or $400 and to the stock possibly about the same.

Supt. J. G. Pentz Makes Annual School Report

LAST YEAR WAS GOOD ONE

Excellent Work Done Evidenced by Large Percentage of Promotions

At the meeting of the school board held Monday night, Prof. James G. Pentz, superintendent of schools made his report of the schools for the past year. His report, which is of considerable length, is a thorough review of the efficient work done during last term, and in it are embodied numerous suggestions for improvement of the schools.

Among other matters Prof. Pentz proposed as a move for the betterment of this institution that there be a four year course. According to investigations, he stated in his report, the majority of the graduates of the past two years and some of the previous classes would have taken the fourth year of work had the opportunity been afforded The present course falls short of the standard of high schools, as set by Nathan C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

However, it will doubtless be a year or more before the suggestions made by Prof. Pentz will be acted upon. When the fourth year is added, it will probably include a commercial course, and this will entail considerable additional expense. The outlook is for an enrollment of 120 pupils in High School next year which will likely insure a graduating class of 20 or more.

Prof. Pentz mentions the fact that 91.3 per cent of all the pupils in average attendance in the grades and a higher percentage in the High School were promoted. By the present system the pupils are promoted by a passing average on each subject, and not on a general average.

Citizen Claims He Found Wigglers in Charleroi "Filtered" Aqua

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail:

Dear Sir:—Kindly permit me the use of space in your columns to inquire if our local Water company is doing all that can be reasonably done to prevent the pollution of our city water. There has been a vast improvement since the new filtration plant went into operation, but lately the water seems infested with tadpoles and "wigglers," which to say the least do not add to its appetizing qualities. Trusting that a hint through the medium of your valuable columns may lead to a remedy, I remain yours, etc.

SAFEGUARDING TRAFFIC.

In signing the full train crew bill Governor Tener has performed an act which is designed to safeguard railroad traffic, both for the employe and the traveling public, as the act applies to the passenger traffic as well as freight carrying branch of the railway service. The significance of the act is that the railroads must man their trains at all times with sufficient men to safely handle the traffic under any and all conditions. With its installation there should be a marked diminution of accidents and fatalities so prevalent in the railway service of the State.

While the bill was opposed by some of the railway systems on the grounds that the conditions imposed were not necessary at all times and places yet as a provision of safety discriminations could not well be made. In preventing accidents the railroads should effect a saving equivalent at least to the extra cost imposed by the additional crews in places heretofore short of the requirements. When the regulations are fully observed it will probably be found that the extra cost to an entire system will not be so great as anticipated, as most railways in safeguarding traffic already provide sufficient crews where danger is indicted. It was those lines or trains least exposed where the chance was taken, and with this eliminated the ultimate saving in accidents and life chould be as beneficial to the railroads as to the employes and the public.

A HOME COLLEGE.

The commencement exercises of W. & J. College at the county seat now in progress serves to call attention to this celebrated institution of learning the proximity of which means much to the community of Charleroi. Although not so large as some of the other colleges of the country, its reputation for thoroughness and efficiency, and the excellence of its faculty make this institution noted in the educational annals of the country, and many eminent and illustrious sons have gone forth from its walls to attain distinction in the world's work. The graduate of W. & J. College if imbued with the right ambition and spirit has an educational equipment second to none in the country.

With such a celebrated institution of learning so close at hand, the high schools of the county might be conducted to co-operate with the college. The course of study might with profit be so based as to prepare those who desire to go to college for entrance. Some inducements might even be made by the school boards of the county for high school pupils to enter W. & J. College. The institution is one of the best of its kind; it is so close at hand that residents of the county almost anywhere can attend more cheaply and with more comforts than at the larger institutions. With the growth of the trolley system throughout the county, an impetus to college life might easily be given through the medium of the publis high schools. The subject is worthy of consideration on the part of the high school boards as well as parents throughout the county.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A Pittsburger who attended a picnic at Eldora Park recently tells a story of a professional man in that city who hired a new office boy. After giving the boy minute instructions as to his duties in answering the telephone, bringing in cards from visitors and finding out their business before announcing them, the lad said:

"What do I git if I make good at all this, more pay?"

"Well, I can't promise that exactly but if you attend to business I'll bring you the score cards of the ball games and let you make an album of them."

Speaking of the stringent laws that prevent the serving of liquor even in dining cars on trains in North Dakota, a recent visitor in town states that the porters have exact knowledge of the State boundary lines. He says that in traveling through that State recently he noticed a woman who had the appearance of a traveling lecturer of the W. C. T. U. who uneasily inquired from time to time if the train was still in North Dakota. Finally when she asked the question for about the fourth time, "Are we still in North Dakota?" the colored porter replied, alertly, with a grin:

"No ma'am, crossed the line about an hour ago. What'll you drink, ma'am?"

An Effective Prayer.

"Years ago," says a well known actor, "I appeared in an amateur performance of a play that had a distinct religious flavor. The leading player had studied for the ministry and had a deep and sonorous voice. In one of the scenes the lights were supposed to be turned down and a raging storm simulated. The accompanying lines were:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the powers of darkness.'

"The leading man spoke the lines, but darkness didn't follow. He spoke them again, and still the stage was depressingly light. Finally he roared:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the power of darkness and also give that fool gas man sense enough to turn down the lights.'

"The gas lights went down, and the audience roared."—Pittsburg Chronicle-Telegraph.

The Bible as a Detective.

The Bible was used until quite recent years for the detection of thieves. Dr. Jessopp told in 1882 how there were still persons living who had witnessed the ordeal to which an East Anglican parson subjected his servants when his cash box was missing. He ordered them all into his bedroom and ranged them around the walls. From the center of the ceiling hung the rope used to lower coffins into the churchyard graves, wound round a Bible, from the leaves of which projected the church door key. This was sent spinning round, and the one at whom the key pointed when it stopped was proclaimed as the thief. Happily the man thus marked out was able to prove an alibi. But this did not convince the servants that the test was a bad one. They only concluded that the thief was not there.—London Chronicle.

An Unbeliever.

"This here paper says as how they've just discovered the remains of a thirty-five foot saurian in Nevada."

"What in thunder's a saurian?"

"Blamed if I know. I s'pose mebbe it's somethin' like a sardine."

"Huh! You ign'rant chump, they ain't no thirty-five foot sardines."

"Well, there could be the remains of one, couldn't they?"

"Haw-haw! Who'd ever buy a box of them things?"

"Darn you, you're just like all the rest of these here smart guys that are upsettin' religion. I think they is remains of thirty-five foot sardines in Nevada. I got faith to suppose that they is also remains of men big enough to buy 'em by the box an' eat 'em on crackers. You know what you are? You are one of these here atheists!"—

The Mystic Seven.

A certain fond father sent his son to the University of Pennsylvania last fall. As a farewell piece of advice he told the young man that "his success was almost assured, since both the word success and your name contain seven letters." The midyear examinations, however, proved to be his doom, and he was compelled to return home.

"Well," said his father, "didn't you keep in mind what I told you about the seven letters?"

"I did that, father," answered the boy, "but you must remember that there are also seven letters in failure."—Philadelphia Times.

Money Panic.

"What was the worst money panic you ever saw?" asked one financier of another.

"The worst money panic I ever saw," was the reply, "was when a fifty cent piece rolled under the seat of a street car and seven different women claimed it."—Exchange.

SEARCHLIGHT RAYS.

The Effect When the Beams Penetrate a Foggy Atmosphere.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the beam of a searchlight and knows why the beam is visible, while light itself cannot be seen unless it strikes the eye, its visibility being due to particles in the air which really do reflect the light to the eye. On a foggy night, if one will notice, the beam seems to come abruptly to an end if the light is pointed upward. It does this instead of gradually fading away into nothing, as it does pointed horizontally on a uniformly foggy night.

The thing is rather puzzling to one first seeing it, but the reason is not far to seek. Where the end of the beam seems to be there is the place the fog ends, for the beam cannot be visible to us unless there are small particles in its path. This is of great help to sailors in judging of the state of the weather, for they can tell exactly how thick the frog is, or, rather, how deep it is. They can also tell by throwing the light horizontally whether the fog is universal or occurring only in patches, for if extending to a great distance the beam gradually gets dimmer and dimmer, but if in patches the beam is lighter in patches, and if it goes through a place with no fog at all that part of the beam is black or invisible.—New York Tribune.

COFFEE AND TEA.

The Bean Improves With Age, While the Leaf Deteriorates.

Coffee beans improve with age. Five year old coffee is better than the new crop and fetches a higher price in the market. In two years coffee will lose 10 per cent in weight, but it will increase more than 10 per cent in price. Coffee should be used quickly after roasting. If the brown beans appear oily the oil should be dried off in a quick, hot oven; otherwise it will undergo a chemical change which will affect the flavor.

While coffee beans dry with age, teas absorb moisture even when in zinc lined chests. Tea likewise deteriorates with age. It doesn't lose strength so much as it does its drawing quality, which is another name for flavor or bouquet. So careful are the tea packers to insure an entire absence of moisture from the tea when being placed in the zinc or lead lined chests that they have the tea leaves sun dried and then heated before packing. The tea goes into the chests too hot to handle with bare hands and is sealed up in air tight packages before it has time to cool and before the slightest suggestion of moisture reaches it.—New York World.

A Word For Sugar.

Pure candy is good for children. Pure sugar is good for grown people. Of course there are exceptions to every rule. If the doctor prescribes a diet and orders a patient to refrain from sweets the patient is bound to obey his adviser. What is the use of calling a physician and paying him for suggestions if the latter are treated with indifference? People in ordinary health need not be afraid to gratify an appetite which craves sweets. Those who have looked into the matter have been telling us lately that soldiers on the march hold out better if they have rations of sugar than if their food omits this useful commodity. A fondness for sugar is often a defense against the temptation to use alcoholic stimulants. The inebriate does not care very much about pure sweets.—Christian Herald.

The Age of Linen.

It is highly probable that the manufacture of linens is of greater antiquity than that of silk. Archaeologists generally admit that the mummy cloth of the most ancient dynasties was a variety of finest linen. The Egyptian and Jewish priests wore it at all their ceremonies. We find mention of fine linens all through the Old and New Testaments. When the queen of Sheba visited Solomon she was habited in linen. In Revelation the angels are clothed in "pure and white linen." Genesis tells us that Pharaoh arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen. Silk is mentioned in the Bible only four times.

Two negro men came up to the outskirts of a crowd where a senator was making a campaign speech. After listening to the speech for about ten minutes one of them turned to his companion and asked:

"Who am dat man, Sambo?"

"Ah don' know what his name am," Sambo replied, "but he certainly do recommen' hisself mos' highly."—Success Magazine.

Five bottles of Thompson's Barosma made a complete cure and today she is a perfectly healthy girl. Thompson's Barosma saved her life, for she was failing so fast that death was not far off."—Frank D. THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER.

An Incident That Marked His Spirit and Independence.

In his "Glimpses of the Confederate Army" in the American Review of Reviews Randolph H. McKim writes:

"It seems to me as I look back that one of the things which stood out strongly in the Confederate army was the independence and the initiative of the individual soldier. It would have been a better army in the field if it had been welded together by a stricter discipline, but this defect was largely atoned for by the strong individuality of the units in the column. It was not easy to demoralize a body composed of men who thought and acted in a spirit of independence in battle.

"As an illustration of the spirit of the private soldier I recall an incident to this effect. Major General Gordon had organized a strong column to make a night attack on Grant's lines at Petersburg. When he was ready to move and the order to advance was given a Big Texan stepped out of the ranks and said:

"'General Gordon, this column can't move before 1 a. m. The men have a truce with the Yanks, and it ain't up till 1 o'clock.'

"The column did not move till that hour. The private in the ranks had taken command, and the major general recognized his authority."

PONGEES HARD TO MATCH.

Because Each Piece Is Made From One Lot of Raw Silk.

Pongee silk is the undyed silk of silkworms fed on the leaves of scrub oak chiefly, though other trees are used in some portions of the pongee district. The silk is produced almost exclusively in Shantung province and portions of north China immediately adjacent.

The real pongee cloth, made of this uncolored specially produced silk, is distinct from the pongees of commerce made in all colors from other silk. Each piece of cloth is made from a particular lot of silk, and therefore each piece varies from all other pieces in exact quality, weight and fineness and in a slight degree in color and other qualities.

There are certain general grades of cloth, certain varieties of weave, certain popular weights, etc., but women shopping in Chinese pongees find it very difficult to match pieces, and on the face of things it is practically impossible to furnish any great number of pieces of a certain weight, grade and quality such as a modern clothing manufacturing establishment would require to standardize a certain line of garments from that particular cloth.—New York Sun

Located His Station.

There was an absentminded bishop in western Ontario, who was constantly finding himself in awkward situations, on account of his extreme abstraction. On a certain occasion he was traveling from London in a northerly direction and found when the conductor approached him that he had forgotten where he was to go. The conductor suggested that he telegraph from the next station and find out his destination. It was before the days of long distance telephones, and the bishop telegraphed to his wife from the first station, "Where was I going?" to be answered at the following station. The answer came, "Exeter; be sure to get off there." The bishop then beamed at the anxious conductor and remarked placidly: "These little difficulties always turn out satisfactorily."—Argonaut.

German Pedigree Book.

There is in Germany what is known as the "German Pedigree Book," or "Deutsches Geschlechterbuch." The purpose of the pedigree book, according to a Berlin correspondent, is to record the ancestry not of nobles, but of bourgeois persons who can prove that they are of genuine middle class or working class ancestry and have no noble blood in their veins. The editor explains in his preface that, while many German nobles "out of court and material considerations have not kept their blood pure, there are many good business class families which have managed to do so." By thus encouraging the proper pride of such families the pedigree book is doing much to eradicate the traditional envy of the nobles.

It Depends on the Dog.

Two Broadway business men met before a bar. They were good friends.

"I'm worried a little," said one. "My chauffeur ran over a dog today and killed it."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about a little thing like that," said the other. "The dog probably got in the way. These dogs are a pest."

"But it was your dog."

"What!" came from the second. "My dog? I'm sorry, but that will cost you $100. That chauffeur of yours is too careless. I insist on the hundred, understand."—New York Telegraph.

Character.

Should one tell you that a mountain had changed its place you are at liberty to doubt it, but if any one tells you that a man has changed his character do not believe it.—Mohammed.

Greenland's Exclusiveness.

Greenland, with its icy mountains, is very exclusive, and, so far from inviting visitors, it even makes it inconvenient for tourists to land on the little bit of occasionally green land that surrounds its great heart of perpetual ice. Permission must be had from Denmark. Denmark is, indeed, very careful and conservative in the management of Greenland affairs. The trade there is monopolized by the state, and only government vessels are welcomed to Greenland waters. This is to protect the Greenlanders from unscrupulous merchants. The state also fixes both the price they shall pay for food and the price they shall sell at.

Saves Time For His Wife.

They were discussing their husbands, neither of whom was distinguished for his domesticity.

"My husband amuses me," said the hostess, "by the excuses he has for being detained downtown of evenings. Sometimes I can almost hear his brain working out an excuse as he tiptoes up the stairs."

"My husband," said the caller, "is different. He is a very systematic man, you know, and some time ago he wrote out a list of various excuses and numbered them. Now, when he comes in he just calls up the stairs, 'No. 4,' or 'No. 20, or whatever the number may be."—Judge.

Von Weber's Last Portrait.

A strange memorial of a famous man was among the possessions of George Augustus Sala. He tells of it in "My Life and Adventures:"

My mother prior to her widowhood had known Von Weber during his visit to London in 1826. He was a frequent visitor to our house in New street, and I have a water color drawing of the illustrious German composer in a gray dressing gown sitting in a large pink and white striped covered fauteuil, his head sunk on his breast and looking desperately ill. Beneath is the inscription, "Alas, poor Karl Maria!" The great musician died, indeed, in London of consumption on the 5th of June in the year named.

SPEERS

James W. Collins and Mrs Howard Clendenon will represent Speers M. E. Sunday school as delegates at the Canonsburg convention Thursday and Friday. Many others from the school will also be found in Canonsburg the two days of the convention.

The family of Wm. Morgan who have all been sick since about the middle of March are slowly recovering. Mr. Morgan was the first to take sick, and Mrs Morgan the last. One boy, Leslie is still sick.

Dr. and Mrs. A. E. Harris andson, Mr. and Mrs. Dan Doherty and son, Mr and Mrs James, Collins and daughters, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Taylor and children, Mr. and Mrs. William Beam, Mr. and Mrs. King Chalfant and children were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Jackman at Long Branch Sunday. The guests reached the Jackman home about 12 o'clock each family carying with them a basket and about one o'clock the 25 were all very comforttably seated around a table on Mr. Jackman's lawn and it is useles to say that all did justice to the table laden with good things to eat. After supper at six o'clock all departed for home having enjoyed a pleasant time.

Wasted Cash!

"Improvident? Well, I should say! He spends his money in the most foolish way."

"Indeed?"

"Yes. Why, only the other day he spent half a dollar to advertise for an umbrella he had lost."

Tricking the Bobby.

A Dublin eccentric a short time ago entered a purveyor's shop and bought a ham. Having paid for his purchase, he requested that it should be hung outside the shop door, saying that he would call back for it. The customer then paced up and down outside the shop till a policeman came in sight, and just as the man in blue caught his eye he grabbed the ham and bolted. The constable, however, soon collared the thief, as he thought, and hauled him back to the shop. Having explained the nature of the alleged crime to the shop assistant, he asked the latter to charge the offender.

"But," said the assistant as he realized the joke, "it's his own ham. He was quite at liberty to take it in any circumstances he chose."—London Answers.

Weatherwise Birds and Fish.

The seagull makes a splendid living barometer. If a covey of seagulls fly seaward early in the morning sailors and fishermen know that the day will be fine and the wind fair, but if the birds keep inland, though there be no haze hanging out toward the sea to denote unpleasant weather, interested folk know that the elements will be unfavorable. Of all weatherwise fish the dolphin is the most remarkable. During a fierce gale or a storm at sea the mariner knows that the end of it is near if he can see a dolphin or a number of that fish sporting on the high sea waves.

Relented.

"Peggy," said Sandy—"Ah'm sayin', Peggy, will Ah kiss yer cheek?"

"If ye dae Ah'll skreich."

"Oh," said Sandy, "diuna skreich."

"An' don't ye kiss me on the mooth, then," said Peggy, "for if ye did Ah couldnt skreich at all."—Boston Post.

The American Indian.

The old question of the origin of the red man of America is still an open one, the last word by no means having been said. The most probable theory is that which links the Indian with the Mongolaids of East Africa, whose physical characteristics are strikingly similar to those of the American aborig ine. Between the Indian and the Japanese there are many pronounced resemblances, and some excellent authorities are of the opinion that it was from that eastern race that the Indian originally sprung. If, as some think, the Eskimos are the best representatives of the Indian as he was upon his arrival here, the theory of the Japanese origin is immensely strengthened, since the likeness between the Eskimo and the Japanese is striking indeed.—New York American.

Logic of the Land.

A specimen of rustic reasoning which is too good to lose is recorded in Mr. R. L. Gales' "Studies In Arcady." "A barber," he says, "was telling me with great gusto how he had refuted an atheist. I inquired what arguments he had employed.

"'I asked the atheist,' said the barber, 'what portion of the Scriptures he based his ideas upon.'

"'What did he say to that?'

"'Never a word.'

"The defeat had been crushing and final."

Not Her Kind.

"Have you heard," asked Mrs. Oldcastle, "that Grace Moneylove has married an octogenarian?"

"Mercy sakes!" exclaimed Mrs. Justrich. "Is that so? Well, he may be all right, but I want to tell you I've never seen a man who wouldn't eat meat that I'd live with."—Judge.

CATHOLICS SWAMP METHODISTS IN "BOOSTER" GAME

St. Jerome's Adherents Take Advantage of Many Errors

THEY ALSO HIT SOME

"Booster's Day" attracted a big crowd to the ball ground Monday night when the Catholics and Methodists were scheduled to do battle. They didn't witness much in the way of a baseball game, but the balloon ascension was lovely. The Catholics got 12 scores, part of them presented freely by the Methodists and the Methodists saved a shut-out by getting one lonely score.

The Catholics captured a tally in the first on a base on balls an error and a stolen base. After waiting an inning to let the balloon get set in the third they captured five runs on as many hits and a number of fielder's funnyiosities. Only one run was scored in the fourth, this on a two bagger and an error. When the fifth sesion hove in view the balloon was there. Five runs was the total. Six hits, three errors, and some funny doings not best to remember as connected with baseball playing.

In the sixth Mitchell was hit by the pitcher, went second on a fielder's choice and third the same way to score on an error. Score:

BASEBALL BINGLES

The Methodists showed a deplorable lack of inside work. Manager George Barnett says he thinks there will be a change of line-up next week that will mean something. Coaching is much needed.

* * *

Ray Kent pulled off a dandy two-bagger in the fourth, but owing partly to lack of proper coaching, tried to stretch a three baser, only to get caught.

* * *

Errors were three times more prominent with the Methodists than hits. Protin himself had as many errors as the whole team had hits.

* * *

"Bob" Newton pulled off a crackerjack of a three baser to middle-right in the fifth. In the same session Kelly and Fagula got two beautiful doubles.

* * *

McKean makes them look lively when he bunts to catch him at first.

* * *

Jules Balza, erstwhile Lutheran shortstop will be found on the same kind of a job with the Methodists next week.

* * *

A breast protector for the umpire has arrived and tonight most likely his majecty, the chief umpire will be found officiating behind the catcher.

* * *

Fagula puts lots of steam behnd the ball when he heaves it to second.

Things Are Changed Now.

The Fourth of July, the day of our arrival at Albany, was the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and on our arrival we were told that great preparations were making for its celebration.

Our landlord, as soon as he found out who we were, immediately came to us to request that we would excuse the confused state in which his house was, as this was the anniversary day of "American independence," or, as some indeed more properly call it, "American repentance." We were all of us not a little surprised at this address, and from such a person. Instances, however, are not wanting of people openly declaring that they have never enjoyed so much quiet and happiness in their own homes since the Revolution as they did when the states were the colonies of Great Britain. Among the planters of Virginia I have heard language of this sort more than once.—From "Travels Through the States of North America," by Isaac Weld, Jr., 1795.

A Wedding Hoax.

There have been many foolish hoaxes since the days of Theodore Hook, but few so cruel as one mentioned by Bram Stoker in his book, "Famous Impostors." "A young couple were about to be married in Birmingham when those officiating were startled by the delivery of a telegram from London with the message: 'Stop marriage at once. His wife and children have arrived in London and will come on to Birmingham.' The bride fainted, and the bridegroom was frantically perturbed at thus summarily being provided with a wife and family. But it was useless—the unhappy man had to make the best of his way through an exasperated crowd, full of sympathy for the wronged girl. Inquiry, however, showed her friends that the whole thing was a hoax—possibly worked by some revengeful rival of the man whose happiness had been so unexpectedly deferred."

Only on the Outside.

"Why, Ethel, you don't mean to tell me you want to marry that baldheaded Professor Wiseman?"

"It is true he is bald," said Ethel, "but think how many young men of today are bald on the inside of their heads."

BAPTISTS AWARDED GAME SCHEDULED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Christians Lose Out in Argument--New Players Approved by Board

The games of the Baptists and Christians forfeited to the former on account of non-appearance of the latter Decoration Day and subsequently ordered played over by the executive committee of the Charleroi Church Baseball league, was Monday night formally awarded the Baptists, after a heated discussion among members of the executive comittee. A claim was presented by the Christians that the Baptists did not have nine eligible men on the field Decoration day morning, but the executive committee looked at the matter differently

Third Baseman P. Haywood, of the Baptists was declared ineligible from the fact that he was neither living or working now in Charleroi.

One week's grace was given "Billy" Kuhn, the Episcopal captain and shortstop who lives at Speers, outside territory. Shortstop Stech, of the Lutheran team presented a statement that he had been guilty of playing Sunday ball, but pleaded for re-instatement on the grounds that he did not know the Church League constitution. He said he would play no more Sunday ball and was re-instated.

Approvals and releases of players were: Baptists, add Will Coulter, release McCann and Feleski; Catholics, add M. McGuire, release Brusa; Washington Avenue Presbyterians, add Will Urben, and Kenneth Matson, release J. Bege and Crabb. Methodists, add Jules Balza, release Jesse Waggoner. First Presbyterians, add Tony Schmidt, release S. D. Dunlap.

WORK TO START SOON

Brownsville Hospital Association Aided by State

SITE ALREADY PURCHASED

Rev. E. M. Bowman, president of the Brownsville Hospital Association has just received notice from Harrisburg of the appropriation of $10,000 for the Brownsville Hospital. The Brownsville Hospital association started in to get an appropriation of $40,000. The House appropriation committee disappointed the promoters by cutting it to $12,000, but the Senate raised it and appropriated $30,000. Governor Tener cut the appropriation to $10,000.

Property has already been purchased for the institution. It has the backing of some of the most substantial men of the Three Towns neighborhood, as well as some of the large coal companies and the Pennsylvania railroad. With the new order of things the Brownsville hospital will be the only institution between Monongahela and Uniontown. Eventually it is hoped that a Charleroi hospital, or one for the convenience of the towns scattered in this vicinity, and centrally located, will be established, and successfully conducted.

BUILDING OWNER SUFFERS

Lewis Carson Will Lose Through Early Morning Conflagration

Fire gutted the store room of Philip Nicholas in the Lewis Carson building at 321 Fallowfield avenue this morning at about 4 o'clock, and a loss of $600 to $800 was entailed. Insurance was carried on the building by Mr. Carson and on the stock by Nicholas.

The origin of the fire is unknown It was discovered a few minutes before 4 o'clock and the alarm turned in When the fire was discovered it looked as if the building could not be saved.

Firemen turned out promptly after the turning in of the alarm, and within a brief time had a stream of water playing on the fire in the store room. It didn't take long to get it under control and entirely extinguished.

The damage to the building will probably be $300 or $400 and to the stock possibly about the same.

GOVERNOR TENER SIGNS RAILROAD CREW MEASURE

Bill Urged by Trainmen's Brotherhoods Law-- Means Increase in Force and Changes in Equipment

The full crew bill presented in the Legislature by Representative Fred C. Ehrhardt of Scranton, and urged by the railroad brotherhoods was approved by Governor Tener Monday night. The act will take effect within 30 days and requires increases of force and changes in equipment by the railroads.

Under the terms of the bill every railroad company operating a train consisting of more than 30 freight or other cars, exclusive of engine and caboose, must have a crew of six men, consisting of an engineman, a fireman a conductor, a flagman and two trainmen Trains having less than 30 cars exlusive of engine and caboose, must have a crew of five men.

Passenger trains consisting of not more than three coaches and a baggage car must hav a train crew consisting of five men—an engineman, a fireman, a conductor, a baggageman and a flagman—this number not to include train porters of Pullman employes. Pasenger trains of four or more cars must have six men in the crew.

The act contains a proviso that it is not to apply to "any train carrying passengers consisting of three or less cars," and that nothing is to prevent increase of train crews.

Trains consisting of four or more passengers, mail or express cars, must have five men, not including porters or Pullman men.

$20 SUM INVOLVED

Man Charged With Using Attorney Fee For Himself

WILL ANSWER TO COURT

Charged with having used for his own pleasure $20 which he had been given for the purpose of hiring a lawyer for Vaclav Vlasak, Bronco Hoffner was taken to jail this morning to await action of the grand jury on the matter. He was given a hearing before Justice of the Peace E. E. Rice Monday, and bail was placed at $300. Hoofner was unable to furnish it.

Vlasak made information against Hoffner. He claimed that he was expelled from an order injustly. Desirous of bringing suit against the order he empowered Hoffner to hire an attorney for him and gave his $20 to pay the retaining fee. This money he alleges, was spent by Hoffner, and he has never seen nor heard of a lawyer being engaged.

Supt. J. G. Pentz Makes Annual School Report

LAST YEAR WAS GOOD ONE

Excellent Work Done Evidenced by Large Percentage of Promotions

At the meeting of the school board held Monday night, Prof. James G. Pentz, superintendent of schools made his report of the schools for the past year. His report, which is of considerable length, is a thorough review of the efficient work done during last term, and in it are embodied numerous suggestions for improvement of the schools.

Among other matters Prof. Pentz proposed as a move for the betterment of this institution that there be a four year course. According to investigations, he stated in his report, the majority of the graduates of the past two years and some of the previous classes would have taken the fourth year of work had the opportunity been afforded The present course falls short of the standard of high schools, as set by Nathan C. Schaeffer, State Superintendent of Public Instruction.

However, it will doubtless be a year or more before the suggestions made by Prof. Pentz will be acted upon. When the fourth year is added, it will probably include a commercial course, and this will entail considerable additional expense. The outlook is for an enrollment of 120 pupils in High School next year which will likely insure a graduating class of 20 or more.

Prof. Pentz mentions the fact that 91.3 per cent of all the pupils in average attendance in the grades and a higher percentage in the High School were promoted. By the present system the pupils are promoted by a passing average on each subject, and not on a general average.

Citizen Claims He Found Wigglers in Charleroi "Filtered" Aqua.

To the Editor of the Charleroi Mail:

Dear Sir:—Kindly permit me the use of space in your columns to inquire if our local Water company is doing all that can be reasonably done to prevent the pollution of our city water. There has been a vast improvement since the new filtration plant went into operation, but lately the water seems infested with todpoles and "wigglers," which to say the least do not add to its appetizing qualities. Trusting that a hint through the medium of your valuable columns may lead to a remedy, I remain yours, etc.

SAFEGUARDING TRAFFIC.

In signing the full train crew bill Governor Tener has performed an act which is designed to safeguard railroad traffic, both for the employe and the traveling public, as the act applies to the passenger traffic as well as freight carrying branch of the railway service. The significance of the act is that the railroads must man their trains at all times with sufficient men to safely handle the traffic under any and all conditions. With its installation there should be a marked diminution of accidents and fatalities so prevalent in the railway service of the State.

While the bill was opposed by some of the railway systems on the grounds that the conditions imposed were not necessary at all times and places yet as a provision of safety discriminations could not well be made. In preventing accidents the railroads should effect a saving equivalent at least to the extra cost imposed by the additional crews in places heretofore short of the requirements When the regulations are fully observed it will probably be found that the extra cost to an entire system will not be so great as anticipated, as most railways in safeguarding traffic already provide sufficient crews where danger is indicated It may there [illegible] trains least exposed where the chance was taken, and with this eliminated the ultimate saving in accidents and life should be as beneficial to the railroads as to the employes and the public.

A HOME COLLEGE.

The commencement exercises of W. & J. College at the county seat now in progress serves to call attention to this celebrated institution of learning the proximity of which means much to the community of Charleroi. Although not so large as some of the other colleges of the country, its reputation for thoroughness and efficiency, and the excellence of its faculty make this institution noted in the educational annals of the country, and many eminent and illustrious sons have gone forth from its walls to attain distinction in the world's work. The graduate of W & J College if imbued with the right ambition and spirit has an educational equipment second to none in the country

With such a celebrated institution of learning so close at hand, the high schools of the county might be conducted to co-operate with the college The course of study might with profit be so based as to prepare those who desire to go to college for entrance Some inducements might even be made by the school boards of the county for high school pupils to enter W. & J. College. The institution is one of the best of its kind; it is so close at hand that residents of the county almost anywhere can attend more cheaply and with more comforts than at the larger institutions With the growth of the trolley system throughout the county, an impetus to college life might easily be given through the medium of the public high schools The subject is worthy of consideration on the part of the high school boards as well as parents throughout the county.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

A Pittsburger who attended a picnic at Eldora Park recently tells a story of a professional man in that city who hired a new office boy After giving the boy minute instructions as to his duties in answering the telephone, bringing in cards from visitors and finding out their business before announcing them, the lad said

"What do I git if I make good all this, more pay?"

"Well, I can't promise that exactly but if you attend to business I'll bring you the score cards of the ball games and let you make an album of them"

"'O Lord, deliver us from the powers of darkness'

"The leading man spoke the lines, but darkness didn't follow. He spoke them again and still the stage was [illegible] light Finally he roared:

"'O Lord, deliver us from the power of darkness and also give that fool gas man sense enough to turn down the lights'

"The gas lights went down, and the audience roared."—Pittsburg Chronicle Telegraph

The Sible as a Detective.

The Bible was used until quite recent years for the detection of thieves. Dr Jessopp told in 1888 how there were still persons living who had witnessed the ordeal to which an East Anglican parson subjected his servants when his cash box was missing. He ordered them all into his bedroom and ranged them around the walls. From the center of the ceiling hung the rope used to lower coffins into the churchyard graves, wound round a Bible, from the leaves of which projected the church door key This was sent spinning round, and the one at whom the key pointed when it stopped was proclaimed as the thief Happily the man thus marked out was able to prove an alibi. But this did not convince the servants that the test was a bad one. They only concluded that the thief was not there.—London Chronicle.

"Well, there could be the remains of one, couldn't they?"

"Haw-haw! Who'd ever buy a box of them things?"

"Darn you, you're just like all the rest of these here smart guys that are upsettin' religion. I think they is remains of thirty-five foot sardines in Nevada. The Mystic Seven.

A certain fond father sent his son to the University of Pennsylvania last fall. As a farewell piece of advice he told the young man that "his success was almost assured, since both the word success and your name contain seven letters" The midyear examinations, however, proved to be his doom, and he was compelled to return home

"Well," said his father, "didn't you keep in mind what I told you about the seven letters?"

"I did that, father," answered the boy, "but you must remember that there are also seven letters in failure."—Philadelphia Times

SEARCHLIGHT RAYS.

The Effect When the Beams Penetrate a Foggy Atmosphere.

Nearly everybody is familiar with the beam of a searchlight and knows why the beam is visible while light itself cannot be seen unless it strikes the eye, its visibility being due to particles in the air which really do reflect the light to the eye On a foggy night, if one will notice, the beam seems to come abruptly to an end if the light is pointed upward It does this instead of gradually fading away into nothing, as it does pointed horizontally on a uniformly foggy night.

The thing is rather puzzling to one first seeing it, but the reason is not far to seek. Where the end of the beam seems to be there is the place the fog ends, for the beam cannot be visible to us unless there are small particles in its path. This is of great help to sailors in judging of the state of the weather, for they can tell exactly how thick the fog is, or, rather, how deep it is They can also tell by throwing the light horizontally whether the fog is universal or occurring only in patches, for if extending to a great distance the beam gradually gets dimmer and dimmer, but if in patches the beam is lighter in patches, and if it goes through a place with no fog at all that part of the beam is black or invisible.—New York Tribune.

COFFEE AND TEA.

The Bean Improves With Age, While the Leaf Deteriorates.

Coffee beans improve with age Five year old coffee is better than the new crop and fetches a higher price in the market In two years coffee will lose 10 per cent in weight, but it will increase more than 10 per cent in price. Coffee should be used quickly after roasting. If the brown beans appear oily the oil should be dried off in a quick, hot oven; otherwise it will undergo a chemical change which will affect the flavor.

While coffee beans dry with age, teas absorb moisture even when in zinc lined chests. Tea likewise deteriorates with age. It doesn't lose strength so much as it does its drawing quality, which is another name for flavor or bouquet So careful are the tea packers to insure an entire absence of moisture from the tea when being placed in the zinc or lead lined chests that they have the tea leaves sun dried and then heated before packing. The tea goes into the chests too hot to handle with bare hands and is sealed up in air tight packages before it has time to cool and before the slightest suggestion of moisture reaches it.—New York World

A Word For Sugar

Pure candy is good for children Pure sugar is good for grown people Of course there are exceptions to every rule. If the doctor prescribes a diet and orders a patient to refrain from sweets the patient is bound to obey his adviser. What is the use of calling a physician and paying him for suggestions if the latter are treated with indifference? People in ordinary health need not be afraid to gratify an appetite which craves sweets Those who have looked into the matter have been telling us lately that soldiers on the march hold out better if they have rations of sugar than if their food omits this useful commodity. A fondness for sugar is often a defense against the temptation to use alcoholic stimulants. The inebriate does not care very much about pure sweets.—Christian Herald.

The Age of Linen.

It is highly probable that the manufacture of linens is of greater antiquity than that of silk Archaeologists generally admit that the mummy cloth of the most ancient dynasties was a variety of finest linen. The Egyptian and Jewish priests wore it at all their ceremonies We find mention of fine linens all through the Old and New Testaments When the queen of Sheba visited Solomon she was habited in linen In Revelation the angels are clothed in "pure and white linen" Genesis tells us that Pharaoh arrayed Joseph in vestures of fine linen. Silk is mentioned in the Bible only four times

Two negro men came up to the outskirts of a crowd where a senator was making a campaign speech. After listening to the speech for about ten minutes one of them turned to his companion and asked:

"Who am dat man, Sambo?"

"Ah don' know wat his name am," Sambo replied, "but he certainly do recommen' hisself mos' highly."—Success Magazine.

SAVED DAUGHTERS LIFE

This Father Refused to Let His Daughter Die.

Here is a story with amoral that many parents might take to heart:

"My daughter was very pale, nervous, thin and suffered with severe pain in her back, so that we took her out of school. Her flesh became blue and she could not retain her urine. I spent over $100 for medicines but she grew worse. Finally I bought a bottle of Thompson's Barosma and she began to grow better right away. Five bottles of Thompson's Barosma made a complete cure and today she is a perfectly healthy girl. Thompson's Barosma saved her life, for she was failing so fast that death was not far off."—Frank D. Meeder, Pleasantville Pa.

If you are troubled with backache, sideache, weakness with backache, or any liver or kidney trouble, then it's time for Thompson's Barosma.

W. F. Henning's sells Thompson's Barosma in two sizes, 50 cents and $1.00, and he guarantees it to cure Bright's disease, high colored urine, bed-wetting and all other kidney and liver diseases. It will make anyone vigorous in a few weeks, because it is a great tonic and maker of rich red blood. All druggists.

THE CONFEDERATE SOLDIER.

An Incident That Marked His Spirit and Independence.

In his "Glimpses of the Confederate Army" in the American Review of Reviews Randolph H. McKim writes:

"It seems to me as I look back that one of the things which stood out strongly in the Confederate army was the independence and the initiative of the individual soldier. It would have been a better army in the field if it had been welded together by a stricter discipline, but this defect was largely atoned for by the strong individuality of the units in the column. It was not easy to demoralize a body composed of men who thought and acted in a spirit of independence in battle.

"As an illustration of the spirit of the private soldier I recall an incident to this effect. Major General Gordon had organized a strong column to make a night attack on Grant's lines at Petersburg. When he was ready to move and the order to advance was given a Big Texan stepped out of the ranks and said:

"'General Gordon, this column can't move before 1 a. m. The men have a truce with the Yanks, and it ain't up till 1 o'clock.'

"The column did not move till that hour. The private in the ranks had taken command, and the major general recognized his authority."

PONGEES HARD TO MATCH.

Because Each Piece Is Made From One Lot of Raw Silk.

Pongee silk is the undyed silk of silkworms fed on the leaves of scrub oak chiefly, though other trees are used in some portions of the pongee district. The silk is produced almost exclusively in Shantung province and portions of north China immediately adjacent.

The real pongee cloth, made of this uncolored specially produced silk, is distinct from the pongees of commerce made in all colors from other silk. Each piece of cloth is made from a particular lot of silk, and therefore each piece varies from all other pieces in exact quality, weight and fineness and in a slight degree in color and other qualities.

There are certain general grades of cloth, certain varieties of weave, certain popular weights, etc., but women shopping in Chinese pongees find it very difficult to match pieces, and on the face of things it is practically impossible to furnish any great number of pieces of a certain weight, grade and quality such as a modern clothing manufacturing establishment would require to standardize a certain line of garments from that particular cloth.—New York Sun

Located His Station.

There was an absentminded bishop in western Ontario, who was constantly finding himself in awkward situations, on account of his extreme abstraction. On a certain occasion he was traveling from London in a northerly direction and found when the conductor approached him that he had forgotten where he was to go. The conductor suggested that he telegraph from the next station and find out his destination. It was before the days of long distance telephones, and the bishop telegraphed to his wife from the first station, "Where was I going?" to be answered at the following station. The answer came, "Exeter; be sure to get off there." The bishop then beamed at the anxious conductor and remarked placidly: "These little difficulties always turn out satisfactorily."—Argonaut.

German Pedigree Book.

There is in Germany what is known as the "German Pedigree Book," or "Deutsches Geschlechterbuch." The purpose of the pedigree book, according to a Berlin correspondent, is to record the ancestry not of nobles, but of bourgeois persons who can prove that they are of genuine middle class or working class ancestry and have no noble blood in their veins. The editor explains in his preface that, while many German nobles "out of court and material considerations have not kept their blood pure, there are many good business class families which have managed to do so." By thus encouraging the proper pride of such families the pedigree book is doing much to eradicate the traditional envy of the nobles.

It Depends on the Dog.

Two Broadway business men met before a bar. They were good friends.

"I'm worried a little," said one. "My chauffeur ran over a dog today and killed it."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry about a little thing like that," said the other. "The dog probably got in the way. These dogs are a pest."

"But it was your dog."

"What!" came from the second. "My dog? I'm sorry, but that will cost you $100. That chauffeur of yours is too careless. I insist on the hundred, understand."—New York Telegraph.

Character.

Should one tell you that a mountain had changed its place you are at liberty to doubt it, but if any one tells you that a man has changed his character do not believe it.—Mohammed.

Greenland's Exclusiveness.

Greenland, with its icy mountains, is very exclusive, and so far from inviting visitors, it even makes it inconvenient for tourists to land on the little bit of occasionally green land that surrounds its great heart of perpetual ice. Permission must be had from Denmark. Denmark is, indeed, very careful and conservative in the management of Greenland affairs. The trade there is monopolized by the state, and only government vessels are welcomed to Greenland waters. This is to protect the Greenlanders from unscrupulous merchants. The state also fixes both the price they shall pay for food and the price they shall sell at.

Saves Time For His Wife.

They were discussing their husbands, neither of whom was distinguished for his domesticity.

"My husband amuses me," said the hostess, "by the excuses he has for being detained downtown of evenings. Sometimes I can almost hear his brain working out an excuse as he tiptoes up the stairs."

"My husband," said the caller, "is different. He is a very systematic man, you know, and some time ago he wrote out a list of various excuses and numbered them. Now, when he comes in he just calls up the stairs 'No. 4,' or 'No. 20,' or whatever the number may be."—Judge.

Von Weber's Last Portrait.

A strange memorial of a famous man was among the possessions of George Augustus Sala. He tells of it in "My Life and Adventures:"

My mother prior to her widowhood had known Von Weber during his visit to London in 1826. He was a frequent visitor to our house in New street, and I have a water color drawing of the illustrious German composer in a gray dressing gown sitting in a large pink and white striped covered fauteuil, his head sunk on his breast and looking desperately ill. Beneath is the inscription, "Alas, poor Karl Maria!" The great musician died, indeed, in London of consumption on the 5th of June in the year named.

"Booster's Day" attracted a big crowd to the ball ground Monday night when the Catholics and Methodists were scheduled to do battle They didn't witness much in the way of a baseball game but the balloon ascension was lovely The Catholics got 12 scores, part of them presented freely by the Methodists and the Methodists saved a shut-out by get-

The Catholics captured a tally in the first on a base on balls an error and a stolen base After waiting an inning to let the balloon get set in the third they captured five runs on as many hits and a number of fielder's funnyosities. Only one run was scored in the fourth, this on a two bagger and an error. When the fifth sesion hove in view the balloon was there Five runs was the total Six hits, three errors, and some funny doings not best to remember as connected with baseball playing.

In the sixth Mitchell was hit by the pitcher, went second on a fielder's choice and third the same way to score on an error. Score:

BASEBALL BINGLES

The Methodists showed a deplorable lack of inside work. Manager George Barnett says he thinks there will be a change of line-up next week that will mean something. Coaching is much needed.

* * *

Ray Kent pulled off a dandy two-bagger in the fourth, but owing partly to lack of proper coaching, tried to stretch a three baser, only to get caught.

* * *

Errors were three times more prominent with the Methodists than hits. Protin himself had as many errors as the whole team had hits.

* * *

"Bob" Newton pulled off a crackerjack of a three baser to middle-right in the fifth. In the same session Kelly and Fagula got two beautiful doubles.

McKean makes them look lively when he bunts to catch him at first

Jules Balza, erstwhile Lutheran shortstop will be found on the same kind of a job with the Methodists next week

Tricking the Bobby.

A Dublin eccentric a short time ago entered a purveyor's shop and bought a ham. Having paid for his purchase, he requested that it should be hung outside the shop door, saying that he would call back for it. The customer then paced up and down outside the shop till a policeman came in sight, and just as the man in blue caught his eye he grabbed the ham and bolted. The constable, however, soon collared the thief, as he thought, and hauled him back to the shop Having explained the nature of the alleged crime to the shop assistant, he asked the latter to charge the offender.

"But," said the assistant as he realized the joke, "it's his own ham. He was quite at liberty to take it in any circumstances he chose."—London Answers

Weatherwise Birds and Fish.

The seagull makes a splendid living barometer If a covey of seagulls fly seaward early in the morning sailors and fishermen know that the day will be fine and the wind fair, but if the birds keep inland, though there be no haze hanging out toward the sea to denote unpleasant weather, interested folk know that the elements will be unfavorable Of all weatherwise fish the dolphin is the most remarkable. During a fierce gale or a storm at sea the mariner knows that the end of it is near if he can see a dolphin or a number of that fish sporting on the high sea waves.

The American Indian.

The old question of the origin of the red man of America is still an open one, the last word by no means having been said. The most probable theory is that which links the Indian with the Mongolaids of East Africa, whose physical characteristics are strikingly similar to those of the American aboriginе. Between the Indian and the Japanese there are many pronounced resemblances, and some excellent authorities are of the opinion that it was from that eastern race that the Indian originally sprung If, as some think, the Eskimos are the best representatives of the Indian as he was upon his arrival here, the theory of the Japanese origin is immensely strengthened, since the likeness between the Eskimo and the Japanese is striking indeed.—New York American

Logic of the Land.

A specimen of rustic reasoning which is too good to lose is recorded in Mr R. L. Gales' "Studies in Arcady." "A barber," he says, "was telling me with great gusto how he had refuted an atheist. I inquired what arguments he had employed.

"'I asked the atheist,' said the barber, 'what portion of the Scriptures he based his ideas upon'

"'What did he say to that?'

"'Never a word

"The defeat had been crushing and final."

Not Her Kind.

"Have you heard," asked Mrs. Oldcastle, "that Grace Moneylove has married an octogenarian?"

"Mercy sakes!" exclaimed Mrs. Justrich. "Is that so? Well, he may be all right, but I want to tell you I've never seen a man who wouldn't eat meat that I'd live with."—Judge.

BAPTISTS AWARDED GAME SCHEDULED FOR MEMORIAL DAY

Christians Lose Out in Argument--New Players Approved by Board

The games of the Baptists and Christians forfeited to the former on account of non-appearance of the latter Decoration Day and subsequently ordered played over by the executive committee of the Charleroi Church Baseball league, was Monday night formally awarded the Baptists, after a heated discussion among members of the executive committee. A claim was presented by the Christians that the Baptists did not have nine eligible men on the field Decoration day morning, but the executive committee looked at the matter differently

Third Baseman P. Haywood, of the Baptists was declared meligible from the fact that he was neither living or working now in Charleroi.

One week's grace was given "Billy" Kuhn, the Episcopal captain and shortstop who lives at Speers, outside territory. Shortstop Stech, of the Lutheran team presented a statement that he had been guilty of playing Sunday ball, but pleaded for re-instatement on the grounds that he did not know the Church League constitution He said he would play no more Sunday ball and was re-instated.

Approvals and releases of players were: Baptists, add Will Coulter, release McCann and Feleski; Catholics, add M McGuire, release Brusa; Washington Avenue Presbyterians, add Will Urben, and Kenneth Matson, release J. Bege and Crabb. Methodists, add Jules Balza, release Jesse Waggoner. First Presbyterians, add Tony Schmidt, release S. D. Dunlap.

Things Are Changed Now.

The Fourth of July, the day of our arrival at Albany was the anniversary of the Declaration of Independence, and on our arrival we were told that great preparations were making for its celebration.

Our landlord, as soon as he found out who we were, immediately came to us to request that we would excuse the confused state in which his house was, as this was the anniversary day of "American independence," or, as some indeed more properly call it, "American repentance" We were all of us not a little surprised at this address, and from such a person In stances, however, are not wanting of people openly declaring that they have never enjoyed so much quiet and happiness in their own homes since the Revolution as they did when the states were the colonies of Great Britain. Among the planters of Virginia I have heard language of this sort more than once.—From "Travels Through the States of North America," by Isaac Weld, Jr., 1795.

A Wedding Hoax.

There have been many foolish hoaxes since the days of Theodore Hook, but few so cruel as one mentioned by Bram Stoker in his book, "Famous Impostors" "A young couple were about to be married in Birmingham when those officiating were startled by the delivery of a telegram from London with the message 'Stop marriage at once. His wife and children have arrived in London and will come on to Birmingham The bride fainted, and the bridegroom was frantically perturbed at thus summarily being provided with a wife and family. But it was useless—the unhappy man had to make the best of his way through an exasperated crowd full of sympathy for the wronged girl Inquiry, however, showed her friends that the whole thing was a hoax—possibly worked by some revengeful rival of the man whose happiness had been so unexpectedly deferred"

Only on the Outside.

"Why, Ethel, you don't mean to tell me you want to marry that baldheaded Professor Wiseman?"

"It is true he is bald," said Ethel, "but think how many young men of today are bald on the inside of their heads."
